

WATERPROOFING SYSTEM

DESCRIPTION

Most advance waterproofing system to arrest water leakages problem, suitable for all concrete and metal protection against leakages. A building or structure needs waterproofing as concrete itself will not be watertight on its own. The conventional system of waterproofing involves 'membrane' that act as a barrier between the water and the building structure, preventing the passage of water.

